[From the New York Sunday Mercury.]

Fox, the Billiard Player.

Mr. Louis Fox, well known as a billiard player of extraordinary merit, has been missing since the morning of December 4th, and his relatives are apprehensive that he has been foully dealt with. It will be remembered that about two months ago, Mr. Fox was severely wounded at his residence in Rochester, by the accidental discharge of a pistol. The ball lodged in the thigh beyond the reach of the probe, and has never been extracted. After being confined to his house about a month, he recovered sufficiently to superintend the business of his billiard room, also in Rochester. On the morning of the 4th he left the house at about nine o'clock, apparently with the intention of going to his place of business. He had contemplated coming to this city to see about changing his full face [illegible] to smaller ones; yet, when he took his departure from the house, on the 4th, he assured his wife that he was not going to New York or out of town that day. About twenty minutes afterward he was met by a lady acquaintance at the west end of Andrew street bridge, which crosses the Genesee river, and is about forty rods from his billiard room, and on the route usually taken by him to reach it. This lady, who, as far as has been ascertained, was the last who saw him, conversed with him in relation to his recent wound, as to his health, and ordinary topics, and found him remarkably cheerful and of good, sound mind. Although her husband did not return home that night, yet Mrs. Fox felt but little uneasiness, believing that he had changed his mind, and in reality gone to New York on business of his room; and it was not until three days afterward, by which time he should have returned to Rochester or written as to the cause of his delay, that his family became alarmed as to his safety. His friends in this city and elsewhere were immediately telegraphed to, without, however, eliciting any information as to his whereabouts.

A friend of Mr. Fox, in a letter relative to his disappearance, says:

"The belief here among those who know him best, and who are best acquainted with the facts, is, that we shall never see him alive again. That he has either been [illegible] in the streets in broad day, or enticed to some by-place and coolly murdered, or that he has committed suicide by throwing himself into the river, or in some other manner. I have no theory. I can frame none, with which all the circumstances will seem consistent. I have been smiled at by some for expressing the idea that he is dead; but I am strongly of that opinion. He was worth $10,000 or $12,000, doing a profitable business and living happily with his family, and temperate and cheerful—certainly not indulging causes of suicide. He had no enemies; he disappeared in broad day, and had to proceed on a well traveled street. How could he have been murdered? He was very generally known. In every place there are some persons who would recognize him. There was no known reason for his going away. All inquiries fail to elicit any information. It does not seem as if he had ever left town. So, you will observe, it is difficult to form an intelligent theory. Should the efforts being made to find his body be successful, that of course will throw a flood of new light upon the mystery."

QUALIFICATIONS FOR A POSTMASTER.—It may be remembered that in April last Capt. Montgomery Bryant, of the 6th United States Infantry, at his own quarters, in South Carolina, where, among others, some rebel officers were gathered, proposed the health of "Jefferson Davis, the illustrious statesman and scholar," and the party rose to drink the toast. For this he was tried, and on the trial it appeared that Lieut. Thomas Britton, of the same regiment, became so incensed at the proposed toast that he knocked the glasses from the mouths of all within his reach. A rebel named Keach dodged his hand and repeating the sentiment drank to it. It farther appears that toasts were drank to Robert E. Lee, Sidney Johnson and Geo. B. McClellan, and that a separate toast was drank to "Andrew Johnson and Jefferson Davis." The court which tried Bryant sentenced him to be deprived of his sword for one month, and to be reprimanded by the commanding General. The findings were very properly disapproved by General Sickles, and in their place he recommended that Bryant be dismissed, and sent the case up to President Johnson, who disapproved General Sickles' recommendation, and ordered the sentence of the Court to be carried out. This Mr. Johnson had no legal right whatever to do, as the decision of the proper reviewing officer upon the proceedings of a court ordered by his authority is final.

Most would suppose that the case left in the above shape would show sympathy enough for rebels, but to make it complete and fully round ed out in all directions, the President has shortly after appointed postmaster at Aiken, South Carolina. This will probably cure the wounds his pride must have received when a Yankee officer attempted to strike the glass from his hand at the moment he was drinking to that illustrious statesman and scholar, Jeff. Davis."

THE St. Joe Herald, of the 25th ult., says that last Tuesday, a white woman, young and fair, was united in matrimony to the object of her affections—a stout and strong negro—with hue as black as coal. The knot was tied by a colored clergyman of this city, and the ceremonies were witnessed by friends of the contracting parties, black and white commingling in the most affectionate manner. The happy couple are now domiciled in Pekee town, the residence of the bride.

THE inquiry instituted by Mr. Sumner in the United States Senate, regarding the holding of Indians in slavery in New Mexico, will bring to light the facts that a most degrading system of slavery still exist there, tolerated, supported and encouraged by the Government officials, and that it is expressly contrary to the treaties made with the Indians.—Gold Hill News.

AT St. Louis, Calhoun Benham, formerly of this State, and late of the Confederate army, has resumed the practice of law in St. Louis. Benham recently took the oath, and made application for pardon through General Bousseau.

THE Odd Fellows of Leavenworth have purchased ground in the heart of that city for the purpose of erecting a substantial and elegant building. The price paid was $7,000.

Salt Lake City, November 4, 1866.

The Colorado River Route.

We have in former numbers suggested the vast field for enterprise and capital to be found in opening up communication with this Territory by means of the Colorado river. It always seemed to us that the fact that ocean and river communication from the West was practicable to within three hundred, or even four hundred miles of Great Salt Lake City, ought to be sufficient to awaken California capitalists to the importance of the subject. During last year some efforts were made in the direction pointed out. Steamers were built and placed on the Colorado, and successfully made the trip to Callville. But these vessels were ill-adapted to the service. To stem the swift current of the river great steam power is requisite, while to pass some of the shoals light draught is essential. But these two things, viz: great power and light draught, are not very difficult to attain. Then the rival lines became involved in an unworthy contest, the peculiar merits of which on either side we never learned, nor in fact cared to learn. The result was, that neither our merchants nor our people could depend on the route as a means of obtaining their goods from the West. Consequently, nearly our entire stock for the supply of this and adjoining Territories has been obtained in the East. In this matter, as we have said before, San Francisco merchants have been singularly blind to their own interests.

The Colorado river would seem to be the natural route for transportation of supplies to the interior of the continent west of the Rocky Mountains. The heavy freights demanded for transportation by rail from New York, Philadelphia and Boston to the Missouri river, and then the long overland carriage from the terminus of the Railroad to this city, certainly leave an immense margin for the San Francisco merchant to operate upon. The cost of freightage by sailing or steam vessel from the latter city to the mouth of the Colorado, and then to the head of navigation of that stream, is a mere trifle compared with freight by the Eastern route. But to render it all available there must be certainty and celerity in the movements of the Colorado steamers.

The trade of Utah and Montana is worth striving for, but San Francisco need not expect to obtain it by lethargy. Utah merchants are very much like other men; they act according to the dictates of their interests. They strive to buy in the cheapest and most accessible markets. Until, therefore, California capitalists shall demonstrate—and we think it easily demonstrable—that Utah can buy more cheaply and advantageously in California, and transport goods to their destination more cheaply and with equal certainty at least, they will not only not secure our trade, but will not deserve it.

We have received a letter from Mr. R. G. Sneath, one of the most far-seeing and enterprising of San Francisco merchants, who has already done much towards opening up trade via the Colorado, and has established a branch of his large house at Callville. After referring to some of the difficulties of inaugurating new means of communication, he says: "As soon as steamers run regularly to Callville, you may expect San Francisco will compete for a large portion of the Salt Lake trade. It is the channel marked out by Nature, and our manufacturing interests here are beginning to understand the necessity of enlarging the market for their productions. A reorganization of the Steamboat Company is now taking place, and with new boats and a large capital, inducements can be held out in relation to trade with Utah superior to those from any other quarter."

We trust that Mr. Sneath is correct in his belief that California capitalists are beginning to get waked up on this subject. Whatever will tend to reduce freights to this part of the world is a consummation devoutly to be wished, and is of moment to the people of Utah. We saw it stated the other day that the carriage of agricultural produce from Stockton, California, by steamer to San Francisco, and thence by sail or steam to New York, including cost of transhipment, was actually less than the price of land carriage from the farm, fifteen or twenty miles from Stockton to that point. By reason of the cheapness of water-carriage over land transportation, by rail or otherwise, California is now largely and profitably engaged in shipping flour and wheat to New York, and competing with the farmers of Illinois, Iowa and Indiana. This seems almost incredible, yet it is nevertheless true. When, therefore, it is stated that the head of navigation of the Colorado river is within three hundred and fifty miles of the centre of Utah, it would seem to require no other argument to prove that that must one day be, if not now, the route by which we should obtain our supplies. We wish our San Francisco friends success in their efforts in this direction, but they must wake up and go to work. Why does not the Chamber of Commerce inaugurate combination and action?

A BILL has been introduced in the Illinois Legislature to incorporate a new Democratic newspaper at Chicago, to be called "The Age," with a capital of two hundred thousand dollars. Its corporators are A. Worden, of Chicago; S. S. Taylor, of Cairo; T. Springer and James Dunlap, of Jacksonville; Charles Keys, of Springfield; and O. B. Fiekler, of Charleston.

THE United States Express Company have purchased the Smoky Hill route, and their agents are now in Denver arranging for the transfer of the route. The Company is one of the strongest in the country.—Nebraska Advertiser.

BY PACIFIC TELEGRAPH.

[SPECIAL TO THE "DAILY UNION VEDETTE."]

Washington, February 10.

The President sent to the Senate, yesterday, the name of George Bancroft, the historian, as Collector of the Port of Boston. The appointment was unanimously confirmed in Executive session, and was referred to Committee on Commerce.

The Select Committee on the New Orleans riots will make their report to the House on Monday. The evidence fills one volume of several hundred closely printed pages, and the report will make from ten to twelve columns of an ordinary newspaper. It proposes a bill for inaugurating a new State government in Louisiana, based upon universal suffrage, and the disfranchisement of all who have been engaged in the rebellion.

The Committee appointed by the National Democratic Association to consider the subject of a National Democratic Convention, met last evening, but came to no conclusion.

Howell Cobb was added, to-day, to the list of Southerners who are discussing the Reconstruction question.

Chicago, February 10.

Specials say the debate in the House yesterday afternoon between Governor Boutwell and Raymond was very earnest and held the closest attention of everybody. Members tried to trap the Governor into some hint as to the progress of the impeachment inquiry, but none succeeded. He spoke of the rebellion as still existing, and charged that its acts of wrong and oppression are inspired by the President. This remark caused much sensation.

Mr. Raymond, on the other hand, conveyed the idea, cautiously but unmistakably, that the President was about to abandon his hostile attitude, and will make a long advance for the sake of harmony with Congress and the country.

The Ways and Means Committee have formally taken up the Tariff bill, and heard a delegation, yesterday morning, of persons interested in the Pacific Railroad.

St. Louis, February 10.

A thunderbolt of blinding vividness burst from the clouds last night, while rain came pouring down in torrents. The darkness was so great as to make it impossible to see across the street. Advices from Bogota state that the American Minister, Burton, made no settlement of his difficulty with the Executive, and was about to leave the Capital for the coast to await instructions from his Government. The agents of the Columbian Government at Panama and Aspinwall are ordered to take exact data, as follows: Total weight of mail transported over the Isthmus, number of passengers, quantity of money and treasure, and the total weight of cargo, and as most cargoes of steamers are by measurement of goods, it is presumed they must all be weighed over.

Washington, February 10.

The Committee on Ways and Means will probably report, to-morrow, an amendatory internal tax bill. The Committee propose to exempt from tax all articles which enter largely into cost for living, for instance; leather, salt, tin, earthen pottery, [illegible] are exempted; also, horse-rakes, [illegible] and horse engines, [illegible] gas or water pipes, of wood or other material; all clothing made from articles subject to tax. Drawers, shirts and other such articles, [illegible] however, exempt. Raw cotton is exempt from tax, but where the tax has not been paid on the raw material. Advertisements [illegible] subject to stamp tax. Butter and cheese are to [illegible] per tax. A section is added to avoid double taxation of tax; so where there is a tax on the raw material there shall not be another on the manufactured article in its various forms. The tax is to be either on the raw or manufactured article. A large number of articles are exempt from tax, because the expense of collection is not equivalent to the receipts therefrom. Boxes, or other packages, bottles, etc., are exempted where the contents are taxed. The Committee propose, in addition to dry casks and barrels, to exempt all other casks and barrels, or other cooperage, including oil, liquor, meat and fish barrels and casks. The tax on raw cotton remains as now, provided the tax remains the same on liquors, or distilled spirits, but the license for distilling is increased from $100 to $500. The tax relating to distillation from grapes, apples and peaches, is unchanged; but brandy, made from grapes, is to be 50c per gallon. The income tax will be on amounts over $1,000, and at the uniform rate of 5 per cent. Rent taxes, insurance, and repairs of all kinds, will be taken out of income.

New York, February 11.

The report of the majority of the Committee on the New Orleans riots is published. It says the present civil government of Louisiana is existing without the sanction of law, and should be suspended by an Act of Congress, and a provisional government established, and maintained by the military until the time comes when Louisiana will be controlled by loyal men, and may be restored to her former practical relations to the Union without endangering its security and peace. The report is accompanied by a bill providing for the appointment of officers, of the new organization, by the President, and provides that rebels shall be enfranchised by going through the naturalization process and taking out papers from the United States Court.

A Times' special says the Southerners who have been at work on reconstruction are still at work. It appears they are ready to make all concessions asked by the majority in Congress, except adapting themselves to the disability mentioned in a clause of the amendment. It is understood they will give negroes suffrage according to the dictates of the majority of Congress, and they will be content with any legal enactment by Congress which shall disqualify the leaders of the rebellion from holding offices. It is said the President will approve such legislation.

The Tribune's special says the tax bill will be reported to-day, and will be made the special order as soon as the military government bill is disposed of.

The Tariff bill will not be reported till Friday or Saturday.

The Ways and Means Committee have restored the clause requiring the Pacific Railroad Company, and all others, to use American iron.

Washington, February 11.

A majority of the Committee on the New Orleans riot will report a bill in substance as follows: A Governor and Provisional Council of nine persons are to be appointed by the President, with the advice and consent of the Senate, from among the citizens of the State, not disqualified by connection with the rebellion. The Governor, with the consent of the Council, shall appoint all State officers, who shall hold office until their successors are elected by the people. An election shall be held on (blank) day for Executive and Legislative officers of the State, who shall hold office one year. Persons who cannot take the oath, but never voluntarily countenanced the rebellion, or served except as private soldiers in regular warfare, may become electors, upon proof of these facts before a United States Court. No distinction among electors on account of race or color allowed. The registration of voters, and the time and manner of holding elections, will be provided for in rules made by the Secretary of War. The people will elect members of a constitutional convention, which must frame a constitution recognizing the supremacy of the General Government to perpetuate the union of the States under that government, and must guarantee equality of rights, legal and political, without regard to race or color. Laws passed by the Legislature must be approved by Congress until the State is restored to representation; and until so restored the State shall have one Delegate in Congress. The bill meets with warm approval from leading Republicans in the two Houses.

The evidence taken by the Committee will be put in print, which will make a volume of over 500 pages.

FROM THE NORTH.—The Owyhee Bulletin of the 24th ultimo says:

Owing to the immense depth of snow in this vicinity, the stages have all failed to make their appearance for the last two days, and from present indications we are inclined to the belief that several days will elapse before they are enabled to make through trips. We are, however, in regular receipt of the mail from both Humboldt and Boise routes, which is being transported from the head of navigation, to this place, by irrepressible snow-shoe pedestrians. Keep up your lick boys; we are all right when we can get the papers—and letters from our gals.

The Helena Gazette says: We have a reliable communication from Bear City—a mining camp on the Hell Gate river, some forty miles from Deer Lodge and about 100 miles from Helena—announcing the fact of a discovery of a good quality of stone coal in that vicinity; that large quantities have been taken out, and blacksmiths in all that part of the Territory have tried it and testify to its excellence, and parties owning the mine propose to load a train on the opening of spring for Helena, in case they get orders or encouragement from parties here, desiring the article.

The Owyhe Avalanche says: We were shown a statement of an assay made by Blake & Co. of about one ounce of ore from the Sherman ledge (in Flint District,) which yielded at the enormous rate of $6,000 per ton of two thousand pounds.

A paragraph has been going the rounds concerning an old lady who had a moustache on her lip; to which a hateful contemporary adds that it is not uncommon for young ladies to have moustaches on their lips, but it is very rarely that they grow there.

[From the Idaho Statesman of February 5th.]

Gen. Crook has another Indian Fight.

We are indebted to some kind friend—whom, we did not learn—for an extra from the Avalanche office, dated last Saturday. It is as follows:

Mr. Geo. W. Hill, who is decidedly prominent among the Indian exterminators, furnishes us the following letter which explains itself. Mr. Hanson, killed, is a brother to Mr. Hanson who is now editor of the Clear Lake (Cal.) Times, and practiced law a short time in Silver in 1866:

Ed. Avalanche:—Having just returned from Gen. Crook's command, and knowing with what interest your readers watch his movements, I send you an account of his last raid. He left the Owyhee Ferry on January 24th and proceeded down the river forty miles, when the scouts reported an Indian trail going from the river in the direction of Stein's Mountain. Here he halted until the scouts brought word that the Indians were encamped at the base of the mountains. Going in pursuit, we traveled twenty-four miles and halted at sundown, where we remained till three o'clock in the morning, when we were again in our saddles. The scouts (Boise Indians) and six citizens were ordered round on the hills above them, getting between them and their horses, when at the break of day an Indian discovered us and gave the alarm. A signal gun was fired, when Gen. Crook charged across the field—over and over the lodges—killing everything before them. A few sufficed to gather up all that were trying to escape, but a number took shelter in a lodge, when —— Hanson, a citizen, killed one in the lodge and advanced on it, saying he would go in, but when within fifteen feet of it he was shot and killed by the gun that Brown had when he was killed last spring near the Owyhee Ferry. Gen. Crook got a few men together, fired a volley into the lodge and charged upon it, and a soldier hauled the only surviving buck from under the dead bodies of his comrades, dispatched him, and the work was done. Result—forty Indians killed and twenty-seven prisoners.

Yours, in haste, GEO. W. HILL.

P. S.—John Manning was wounded.

LIST OF REBEL HIGH OFFICIALS PARDONED. An analysis of the list of pardons granted to high officials lately in rebellion, shows the following persons have been pardoned:

Cabinet officers—George Trenhom, Secretary of the Treasury; George Davis and Wade Keos, Attorney Generals; Assistant Treasurer, E. C. Elmore; Minister to France, Chas. J. Faulkner; Agent in Europe, Pierre Soule. Ex United States Judges, Marshals and District Attorneys, 8; Confederate Judges, Marshals and District Attorneys, 5; rebel Commissioners, 3; ex-rebel Governors, 2; rebel naval officers, 9; privates, 6; blockade runners, 3; ex-United States Congressmen, 11; rebel Congressmen, 93; rebel Colonels and Lieutenant Colonels, 5; rebel Brigadier Generals, 73; rebel Major Generals, 9.

GOVERNOR BLASDEL has vetoed the bill awarding the publication of the laws and resolutions of the present session of the Legislature to the Virginia Union at the rate of one dollar per square of three hundred "ems." The Governor's objections to the bill are, that the price is exorbitant; that the laws were published last year for twenty cents per square, and can be published this year for about twenty-five cents—three-quarters less than the rate fixed in the bill; and, finally, that the bill provides for the publication of all of the laws and resolutions of the session, instead of the general laws.—Virginia Enterprise.

CURE FOR NEURALGIA.—Some time since we published, at the request of a friend, a receipt to cure neuralgia. Half a drachm of sal ammonia, in an ounce of camphor water, to be taken a tea-spoonful at a dose, and the dose to be repeated several times, at intervals of five minutes, if the pain be not relieved at once. Half a dozen different persons have since tried the receipt, and in every case an immediate cure was effected. In one, the sufferer, a lady, had been affected for more than a week, and her physician was unable to alleviate her sufferings, when a solution of sal ammonia in camphr water relieved her in a few minutes.—Alta California.

From the Washington Chronicle we clip the following items concerning the movements of the army:

Recruits ordered West.—General Grant has ordered the superintendent of the general recruiting service to prepare detachments of convenient size of the recruits which are or may from time to time become disposable at the general depots and forward them to the following mentioned regiments: 18th infantry, Fort Casper, Dakota Territory, 190 recruits; 27th infantry, Fort Phil. Kearny, Dakota Territory, 135 recruits, and the 36th infantry, Camp Douglas, Utah Territory, 220 recruits.

A statement has been going the rounds of the newspapers to the effect that Adjutant General Lorenzo Thomas has been placed upon the retired list of the United State Army. We are authorized to say that this is without foundation in fact. General Thomas still occupies the position which he has held for years, the duties of which he has discharged with satisfaction to the War Department, as well as the officers connected with the regular army.

Brevet Brigadier General A. C. Gilem, Colonel 24th United States Infantry, has been assigned to the command of the Military District of Mississippi.

MAKING CASTOR OIL OUT OF "CULLED PUSSONS."—The Washington Star says:

As strange as it may appear, many of the colored people here cherish the belief that there is a class of physicians who practice "burking," and are addicted to the dissection of live human subjects for the purpose of manufacturing castor oil, and that for this purpose the doctors prefer bodies of the dark cuticle. This opinion is so strongly impressed upon their minds, that no amount of reasoning will remove it, and we know many of them, particularly juvenile Africans, who will not budge a foot outside their dwellings after dark. An otherwise intelligent "Topsy," employed by us, describes the modus operandi of these imaginary ghouls, by saying: "Dey steal upon culled pussons unawares, clap a plaster ober deir mout to keep um from hollerin', and den drag um way to whar dey lay um on a table and cut up, and den bile um down for ile." This is a cheerful notion for those invalids who use the oil of the palma christo bean as a cathartic.

The Annapolis (Md.) Republican states that a similar belief prevails among the colored people in that section, and it probably exists elsewhere. How it originated it is impossible to tell.

INSPECTRESS APPOINTED.—Mrs. E. J. McLean has been appointed Inspectress for the Custom House of steamers arriving in San Francisco harbor. Her particular duty, it is stated, will be to inspect the persons and baggage of female passengers, to prevent smuggling. The appointee has been engaged as a nurse in the army, and the place has been given her in part acknowledgment of her services as such.

THE GENERAL LAND OFFICE.—The Commissioner of the General Land Office has just transmitted to the register of the land office at Vancouver, Washington Territory, for distribution to the grantees, three hundred and ninety-six patents, covering about thirty-three thousand acres of land in that region.

A NOVEL FISHERMAN.—The Clear Lake Courier tells of a dog in that region which has been trained to catch fish. His keen eye detects them with the quickness of a fish-hawk, and diving for them, he rarely misses his fish, bringing them up with an adeptness wonderful to see.

A young lad on the street yesterday wanted to know if eight threes did not make twenty-four. "No," says a young American, "it makes 33,333,333."

A lady was recently sent from Galveston to New York by the Adams Express. She was transferred from one messenger to another like any other "valuable package."

From the North.

The Logan ... ult. has the following:

GNAT CREEK MINES.—Mr. Gilbert, who cam in from these mines on Monday, reports about eighteen men at work there, making from $3.00 to $5.00 per day per man, about eighteen inches of snow in the mines, and from one foot to eighteen inches on the table land between this and their camp.

These mines are about 30 miles distant from this place in a northeast direction. They have six good comfortable cabins erected there for winter quarters. They have some timber to remove in mining. The stripping is about two feet deep, and the pay gravel averages about eighteen inches deep. The gold is fine and worth about $18.00 per ounce. The creek affords only about seven or eight inches of water in the winter, but on the melting of snows they hope to have a full supply. The creek is tributary to the Palouse, and their camp distant from that stream about twelve miles.

Mr. Gilbert starts back to the mines this morning. The Palouse mining camp is about thirty miles beyond Gnat creek, and higher up towards the mountains. No news from that camp for some time past.

FROM SALMON RIVER.—Two miners came in town on Tuesday from the bars of Salmon River, about ten miles above its mouth. They report about twenty-five men at work in that vicinity, mining. The average per day, per man, is about $3.00 including the time occupied in clearing away and stripping. In some places they are working high bars, with about eight feet stripping and from six to eight inches pay gravel underneath. The pay dirt is a kind of gravelly clay or cement which requires puddling to extract the gold. Some few have been employed in cutting a ditch from a stream near by to a high bar, where they expect to make from $10.00 to $20.00 per day, per man, with sluices.

There had been more snow there, than we have had ... this winter.

FOR LEMHI.—John Ramey, ... expressman between this place and Warrens, has started from Warrens for Lemhi, on snow shoes. He thinks he can reach the digging in less than five days. If he succeeds it will be a commendable feat seldom equalled, through an unexplored country. Did he know the best passes in the mountains, we apprehend that he would find but little difficulty. But a stranger to most of the route, he will necessarily be compelled to travel many miles off from the best route. If he succeeds we shall hurrah for John Ramey.

IMMENSE.—Some idea of the magnitude of the Paris Exhibition building may be formed from the fact that the outer gallery is nearly a mile in circumference, more than 100 feet in width, and 80 feet in height.

A MICROSCOPE has lately been completed in England with double the power of any similar instrument previously constructed. It magnifies 15,000 diameters.

MRS. Jane G. Swisshelm has just finished a work of fiction which, it is said, photographs a number of Government officials in Washington.
